Three Probes Are Begun In Train Wreck

Eight Dead; And 63 Injured In Wreck Near Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—(INS)—Investigators from three agencies sifted evidence today to determine the cause of the rear end crash of two Pennsylvania railroad trains at Bryn Mawr in which eight persons were killed and 63 others were injured.

The wreck occurred on the earlier's main line a half mile from the Bryn Mawr station yesterday when the New York bound Red Arrow plowed into the rear of the stalled Philadelphia Night Express from Pittsburgh with a thunder-clap that shook the neighborhood.

Hearings Start Wednesday
The Interstate Commerce Commission announced it would begin hearings on the wreck next Wednesday in Philadelphia. Other probes are being conducted by the State Public Utility Commission and local authorities. The railroad said it could not account for the cause of the accident.

The dead included seven men and a woman. Identifying the bodies was difficult because the victims were in their night clothes and had been in the rear of the stalled night train which was ripped apart by the Red Arrow's engine.

The PRR announced that the body of the eighth victim was that of Miss Margaret B. Dean, 69, of (1744 Hartshorne road) East Cleveland, O.

Railroad spokesmen said they were unable to question Frank B. Yentzer, 62, the engineer of the Red Arrow. Yentzer, of Harrisburg, was listed as dead in first reports.

The railroad said later, however, (Continued on Page Two)

Echoes of the big 1950 snow are ringing again in the ears of local grade school pupils. Come Monday the pupils enter their final three weeks of school, with school closing on June 8.

Poison ivy seems to be already inflicting residents who are already allergic to the obnoxious little weed which grows in the most convenient places. Local housewives working in flowerbeds are beginning to look for a remedy for the itchy welts that have appeared on hands and legs.

If the present siege of good weather keeps up, workmen engaged in erecting the new Central Presbyterian church on the New Wilmington road will start putting a roof over the edifice about June 1, officials of the church tell PA News. The past week has seen great progress on the building due to the fine weather.

When filling in of the sink hole along Route 18 south of the city, is complete, workmen of the highway department will prepare only a travelable dirt surface on the stretch to see if any more sinkage will occur. Motorists will use the temporary surface until fall and then if the road bed remains, a hard surface will be applied it is reported.

Packing House Pay Boost Raises Pay Ceiling Question

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19—Labor observers are in dispute today over whether a sizeable pay increase for nearly a quarter-million packing house workers means the government has scuttled its 10 per cent anti-inflation ceiling on wage hikes.

Wage stabilization board chairman George W. Taylor said the roof-pleasing nine cents per hour boost for the meat processors was no ruling on the merits of the pay limit, but the board opinion granting the increase said the decision "looks in the direction of a general policy."

Increased Living Costs
The majority statement described the advance as compensation for increased living costs since the meat packers got their last wage adjustment in August, 1950.

Industry members of the stabilization board, outvoted eight to four by labor and government contingents on the panel, "vigorously" dissented, however, and issued a minority pronouncement in which they declared:

Britain Sends Iran Warning

LONDON, May 19.—(INS)—Great Britain, which has a crack parachute brigade alerted and standing by for emergencies, warned Iran officially today that "most serious consequences" may arise from refusal to negotiate a new agreement on the Anglo-Iranian oil fields.

In a firm note handed to the Iranian foreign minister in Tehran, Britain offered to send a mission to the Iranian capital immediately to work out a new agreement.

Iran has cancelled contracts effective until 1993 under a law nationalizing the rich Abadan oil areas, where over half a billion dollars in British capital is invested.

The note was described by the British foreign office as "conciliatory" on the grounds that it proposes eventual settlement by the international court of justice at The Hague.

Detroit Student Is Injured In An Initiation

DETROIT, May 19.—(INS)—A 17-year-old Detroit high school student is being treated today for second degree burns suffered during a school club initiation.

Douglas Brisbee was the victim of a ritual that new members of the Auto-Aero club at Cass Tech high school have undergone for more than 25 years without injury.

Parts of the ritual calls for dabbing paint on the boys' legs, chest and neck.
Douglas virtually burst into flames yesterday when an instructor taking part in the ceremony tried to shock him with an electro-magnet.

Police said a spark from the magnet apparently ignited the inflammable paint smeared on the boy's body.

Cleveland Youth Shoots His Mother

CLEVELAND, May 19.—(INS)—A 27-year-old college student shot and killed his mother in their Cleveland home early today apparently because she sold the property and intended to move to California.

Homicide Detective Capt. David E. Kerr said the student, Otto Knight, called police to tell them he killed his mother. A few hours later he telephoned again, asking whether the body had been found.

The 64-year-old mother, Mrs. Catherine Nakolovich, a widow, was found dead of three bullet wounds, two in the stomach and one in the chest.

Testimony Of Gen. Bradley Facing Delay

By JAMES LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A new attempt to rip the seal of secrecy off top-level White House conversations on the Gen. MacArthur firing may delay additional testimony Monday by Gen. Omar Bradley in the Senate Far East policy probe.

Another showdown fight was developing over the demand of Sen. Wiley (R) Wis., that Sen. Russell (D) Ga., chairman of the Senate Committee investigating the ouster, ask President Truman to allow his aides to talk freely.

Wiley said he intends to press for a decision Monday, and he was expected to get strong backing by Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., Brewster (R) Me., and Knowland (R) Cal. Russell said that "a senator of the United States is responsible only to his constituents and his own conscience and judgment" and that he is prepared to deal with Wiley's demand when it comes up in committee.

An estimated crowd of one million is expected to line the parade route and visit an all-day open house at nearby Bolling field where hundreds of army, navy, marine and coast guard exhibits and demonstrations will be shown.

Battle Rages In Some Areas Hand-to-Hand

Unit Of U.S. Second Division Fighting Out Of Encirclement

(BULLETIN)

TOKYO, May 20.—(Sunday)—(INS)—American, French and Dutch troops of the U.S. Second Division hurled back wave after wave of Chinese Communist troops Saturday and then counter-attacked to re-establish the sagging Allied line on Korea's east-central front.

Stained with blood from thousands of Red casualties and their own wounds, Second Division units fought through Chinese attempting to encircle and annihilate them. Then, bolstered by relief columns from the south, the UN forces attacked to the northeast, partially plugging a serious hole in the Allied defense line 55 miles northeast of Seoul.

By ROBERT SCHAKNE
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, May 19.—Communist troops, unmindful of frightful casualties, lunged furiously down the mountainous spine of Central Korea today in their renewed offensive but on the west front Allied patrols failed to make contact with massed Red forces.

Wave after wave of an estimated 768,000 Red troops was thrown into the second round of the spring offensive to replace shock troops decimated by United Nations ground and air attacks.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force reported that its planes inflicted 7,900 casualties on the Communist forces during the past week in addition to losses in ground fighting which were over the 15,000 mark.

Battle Toe-to-Toe

United Nations troops battled in some cases toe-to-toe with the invaders, who withheld everything the Allies could throw at them and swept on.

South Korean troops were swamped in the Red onslaught by troops shooting Russian-made burp guns from the hip, hurling hand grenades and spitting the air with bugle and whistle blasts.

A unit of the U.S. Second Division made up of American GI's and European troops, was caught in the vortex of retreating South Korean soldiers but was fighting its way clear of a partial Red encirclement of the east central front some 45 miles east of Seoul.

Front dispatches said the entire division's flank was threatened by (Continued on Page Nine) roduced Chef de Chemin de Fer Harold V. Haines, of Hammond, Ind., head of the National 40 and 8, who with Grand Chef de Gare A.P. Sundry, of Blairville, was the guest of the local vantage on a tour of the country.

Edward A. DeCarbo, president of the New Castle Veterans Council, called attention to the parade arrangements for Saturday evening, which will bring the Armed Forces Day observance to a close, and Chairman Howard Lyons, introduced his co-chairmen, Carbis A. Walker and Walter A. Kiehl, along with the other members of the committee which has had charge of the arrangements for Armed Forces Week.

After pausing for a minute in silent tribute to the men who have lost their lives in the fighting in Korea, the invocation was given by Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Enemy Knows Time

In his address, General Dent stated that our enemy alone knows when and where his numerically superior forces are going to strike. Our force for peace must compensate for this by being more efficient and better armed—both to defend this country and to provide a retaliatory attack if necessary.

"The professional military man does not sound an alarm because he wants to foster war, an empire or a high position. Putting on a uniform does not change basic human emotions and reactions. We cry out only because our faith in the premise that in order to avoid war and insure peace, we must be strong—physically and technically."

Today, the Armed Forces of the United States are unified to achieve that strength. I may say that never before in history has this traditionally defense-minded country been faced with the problem of maintaining such a substantial force-in-being in peace time, and never before has the price of each new development been so high.

Reviews Strength

General Dent then reviewed the strength of these various forces, particularly of the Air Forces in which he holds a high position. He called attention to the development of guided missiles, as an important function in future warfare. The Army and Navy have similar programs, he stated in conclusion, all integrated into a national defense picture.

The underlying determination of this nation to maintain its unit, when faced with a common danger has lived through the years, he stated. It will not only be maintained now, but will be strengthened to meet any challenge. This Armed Forces Day symbolizes this increasing strength.

reservists with World War II records.

18½-Year Draft Age

Acceptance of the 18½-year draft age was a victory for House conferees, while the 18-year provision on UMT was contained in the Senate bill.

Both Senate and Armed Services Chairman Russell (D) Ga., and his House counterpart, Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., agreed that under present military manpower requirements, there are only "remote" chances that young men will get into combat before they reach the age of 19.

The compromise bill provides that after induction, draftees must receive four months training before they are sent outside the United States. It also provides that the manpower pool of draftables over the age of 19 must be exhausted before younger men are taken.

The conferees will meet sometime next week in an attempt to finish the bill.

Other Agreements

Other important provisions agreed upon at Friday's meeting were:

- 1—A ceiling of five million men on the armed forces.
- 2—An expiration date of July 1, 1955, for the draft section.
- 3—Removal of the present two per cent limit on the number of women in the armed forces until July 1, 1954.
- 4—A ban on raising physical standards for draftees above those of January, 1945, at the height of World War II.
- 5—Lowering of the mental requirements for draftees from the present intelligence test score of 70 to 65. Vinson predicted that this would bring into the service 150,000 present or potential 4-F's.

that he suffered fractures of the facial bones and underwent surgery at Bryn Mawr hospital.

A spokesman said Yentzer has been with the railroad 40 years and an engineer since 1926.

Dr. Edward Clark, a resident physician at the hospital said he found Yentzer's right eye "did not react normally," but added that "the condition might have been a nervous reaction from the shock of his injuries."

J. M. Symes, operating vice president of the railroad, issued what he described as a "tentative and preliminary" statement last night which said the Night Express had been brought to an automatic halt by a track device which struck something hanging from its undercarriage.

"Apparently the warning signals at the wayside and in the locomotive cab were properly working to warn the Red Arrow's engine crew of the presence of the Night Express on the track ahead," he said.

Symes explained that Yentzer should have had a caution signal about three miles from the point of the accident, and a stop-and-proceed signal about a mile and a half ahead, at Villanova, which meant proceeding at about 15 miles an hour.

"Our tentative information is that the engineer of the Red Arrow did stop at the stop-and-proceed signal," said Symes, "but we are unable to explain how, in view of the rules, his train could have been moving, following the stop, at such speed as to cause an accident such as that at Bryn Mawr."

Judith's subject was San Marco Fort, the oldest fort in the United States. The award was made for the interesting space relationship.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Harriet Foster, who passed away two years ago May 20. "In our chest of cherished memories, we've locked up thoughts of you. Your smiling face, your tender love, and the things you used to do.

And now, when we're alone, we open up this chest, And send a while just thinking of the one we loved the best."

Card of Thanks

To our many friends who expressed their love and kindness in our bereavement, we wish to extend our sincere thanks.

The scientific training and equipment of the American funeral director has elevated our professional service to the position of eminence it holds among the nations of the world.

But it is our considerate, personal attendance on a bereaved family's individual needs that has won widespread public approval for our service to the living.

RUSSIA HAS THE ANSWER

Although developments in the Korean War are based to a considerable extent upon speculation—at least so far as the American public is concerned—there was no doubt for days that the Chinese Reds were preparing for another major drive against U.S. and other forces in South Korea. American forces took all possible steps to prepare for the onslaught.

There are new reports that the Chinese have a sizable air force in Manchuria, but to date it has not made its appearance over the fighting front.

Regardless of the outcome of the drive, it will certainly have an effect upon Russia's position. If it should succeed, it would seem logical for Russia to jump in to bring decisive victory to communism in the Far East.

If the drive fails, as others in the past have failed, will the Russians then come to the aid of their Chinese comrades and widen the conflict?

As from the beginning of the fighting in Korea, everything depends upon what the Kremlin decides to do. If the Chinese Reds fail of victory in Korea, and Russia does not lend major assistance to them, a stalemate will be in effect.

OCEANS OF OIL

Demand for oil products of all types has reached astronomical proportions in the United States. It is currently nearly double the figure of 10 years ago. And there are no indications of a let up. Last year oil heat was installed in 500,000 additional new and old residential properties.

New passenger cars are more economical in the use of gasoline than was the case a decade ago, but the steadily increasing number of cars on the roads more than offsets increased gasoline mileage.

Despite the record demand for petroleum products, oil supplies in storage continue to mount. Gasoline stocks are 9,000,000 barrels greater than a year ago, light fuel oil stocks are ahead by 9,000,000 barrels, and inventories of kerosene are up 4,000,000 barrels.

Shortage of oil predicted at the outset of fighting in Korea has not materialized. A cutback in output of wells and refinery operations is recommended by some oil men to prevent declines of prices caused by oversupply.

THOSE 'YANKEE CAPITALISTS'

Nothing makes sweeter froth through Soviet whiskers than the epithet: "Those Yankee capitalists!" The Politburo has given the Russian people a phony picture of a handful of economic tyrants grinding down U.S. "workers." They hammer the theme in cartoons, editorials, even in operas.

Just one statistic this week shows how false that picture is. A Saginaw, Mich., automobile mechanic (one of the "workers") became the one-millionth common stockholder of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

In a single corporation we find no less than a million "Yankee capitalists," and the estimated total for all U.S. corporations is 24 million, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. That is equivalent to finding a "Yankee capitalist" in 60 per cent of the U.S. homes.

Add to this picture the vast number of Americans who hold U.S. bonds, and the "Yankee capitalist class" includes most of us. That means most of us take part in, help control, and share to a small or large degree in the industrial enterprise system today.

Let's hope the Voice of America can get this true picture over to the Russian people, and to the world. Then others will be able to understand why an Akron, Ohio, salesman prefers to remain a salesman in the U.S.A., rather than inherit $250,000 on condition that he move to, and live in, Socialist Britain.

EISENHOWER STAYS OUT

During the inception of the Truman-MacArthur controversy it was widely predicted that General Eisenhower would be brought back to Washington to give his opinions concerning the removal of General MacArthur from his Far Eastern command. It was further predicted he would endorse Mr. Truman's action, taking sides against the man who had been his comrade, so to speak, for more than a quarter of a century.

The argument that Eisenhower, as a protégé of General Marshall, and Mr. Truman's appointee as commander of the Western defense forces, could do nothing but lend support to the Truman-Marshall side of the controversy seemed to be based on logic.

Now there is a report that General Eisenhower will not come home from Europe until the controversy has ended. Although scheduled to return to make a report on the progress of the Western defense army, his trip has been postponed, presumably so he can avoid taking a hand in the proceedings. If Eisenhower were in the United States he could hardly decline an invitation to testify in the congressional hearing on the MacArthur matter.

Certainly he would have nothing to gain by becoming involved in the controversy. He would lose prestige with the American people.

An unsolved mystery of the human race is the answer to this question: What did mankind worry about before it invented money?

Naturalists excitedly report that a new geyser is in the process of being born in Yellowstone National Park. Being highly unscientific-minded we can't get steamed up over that.

U.S. Officer May Be Commander

A strong possibility emerged today that top naval command in the eastern Mediterranean—traditionally a British priority—may go into the hands of an American officer.

Events are shaping up in London that lend a more favorable view than previously to the United States' stand that Turkey and Greece should be accommodated in their ardent desire to become members of the North Atlantic treaty organization.

Has Direct Bearing

Quite naturally, the extremely dangerous situation in Iran has a direct bearing on the issue. Almost hysterical outbursts by the Iranian press on the inevitability of a third world war should Britain move with armed forces to protect her extremely valuable, middle east petroleum interests drew forceful attention to recent Anglo-American naval discussions in the Mediterranean.

These parties have been headed by Adm. Robert B. Carney, U.S. naval chief for the eastern Atlantic and the Mediterranean, and Adm. Sir John Edelman, present British commander in the inland sea.

They have reported back to London and Washington that their dispositions are ready for any eventuality.

Ready For Emergency

Fleets and flotillas are in readiness for immediate action in event of emergency. Shore facilities have been prepared at friendly ports. But the question still remains as to supreme command of possible naval action under the direction of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The growing tension in the middle east and the eventual need for selecting a single, over-all naval commander recalled a fiery discussion in the British House of Commons a few weeks ago.

This followed the nomination of Adm. William E. Fechteler of the U.S. navy as North Atlantic fleet commander in the western European defense organization.

Winston Churchill spearheaded a violent attack upon the appointment. He did not deprecate the American admiral's ability. On the contrary, he commended it.

But at the same time, he extolled in lofty terms the achievements of the British fleet in European waters. He called pointed attention to the number of German U-boats the royal navy had disposed of in both world wars and asked—with some annoyance—why some British admiral could not have been found who was capable of doing the job.

The answers to Churchill's arguments were embodied in the vast commitments of the United States in the land, sea and air defense of Europe. He was told, officially and in the press, that the immediate sea approaches to the British Isles and the Gibraltar garrison would remain in any case under British command.

But the controversy that was begun at the time has continued and will be resumed—perhaps with lesser vigor—in connection with the eastern Mediterranean.

U. S. Gives Aid

The necessities aroused by post-war communist expansion in eastern Europe—long before the Iranian oil issue flared into its dangerous proportions of the day—compelled the United States to devote considerable funds and armed forces to bases in Greece and Turkey.

This has taken much of the burden off Great Britain's traditional responsibilities to Greece, Crete, Cyprus, Alexandria, Suez and the Dardanelles itself.

Therefore the point is being made in military and naval discussions that it is only just and fair that top command be placed in American hands.

These conversations ostensibly are still in an early stage.

But the deterioration of conditions in the middle east seems certain to hasten the outcome.

Gen. Eisenhower has not projected himself into the actual Mediterranean picture as yet. But he has visited Italy, whose defense minister Rinaldo Ossola has promised a sizable Italian armed force for the defense of Europe before the year has ended.

The next few weeks may very well witness a major decision in Mediterranean defense. And the odds at the moment are that the State and Stripes will be flying where for decades the Union Jack was a symbol that was all but taken for granted.

The home! Innovative living should start there. The home is the center of all activity . . . or at least should be. The minds of your children are developed or retarded in the home. Your individual happiness is rooted to the home. . . . Therefore you have the greatest possibilities in your own domain.

Materially speaking . . . you can do many outstanding things to your house to make it a better place in which to live . . . to make it a home. To accomplish this you must remember that the world is full of materials . . . just waiting for your individual touch. For years and years certain accepted customs held forth . . . today your individuality takes the place of custom. And once you decide to enjoy innovative living your outlook will become brighter . . . at least it has with personal experience.

Take the work shop of the home . . . the kitchen. More ideas have been developed for that room than any other room. Yet the ultimate will not be reached in our life time. Each housewife has her own ideas . . . but only a few have the courage of innovative living to carry out those ideas. True the dish washer, the electric mixer, the deep freezer has been a great boost . . . But the arrangement and use of these items plus automatic stoves and refrigerators in most kitchens is the same. . . . It takes courage to elevate the refrigerator 12 inches from the floor line. To have the electric mixer pop out of a cabinet when needed. To take the stove . . . put the oven in one place and the cooking tops in another. To make your lighting effective . . . but once you taste innovative living . . . you will find new ideas each day. Ideas that you and your family can accomplish.

Each day magazines are published . . . telling about innovative living . . . bringing the garden into your home . . . nature uses color . . . you too can change your spirit by using color . . . color that you like just because you like it . . . not because it was or wasn't used before. If you like your walls different . . . try plastic upholstery material as wall covering. Some like it.

TIMBER-R-R!!

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Hoping Something Will Turn Up?

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A great deal of hand wringing is going on over a remote, primitive, dusty part of the world called Iran. It is hard for us here to realize, preoccupied as we are with so many troubles, that Iran could mean the beginning of World War III, and not next year or the year after but next week or next month.

What is being done besides hand wringing is hard to discover. The state department and official Washington seem to be hoping, like Micawber, that something will turn up.

The question is whether the deterioration has gone so far that anything can be done to save for the use of the west oil vital to sustain western Europe. As to blame for what is happening there seems to be more than enough to go around. Although almost no one talks about it, the politics of big oil is woven through the whole tangled business.

The middle east produces about 2,000,000 barrels of oil a day of which 700,000 come from Iran and 165,000 from Iraq. This is almost entirely British production, most of it under the Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

Saudi Arabia produces 715,000 barrels, Kuwait 420,000 and Qatar 50,000. Most of this production is by American companies which have done an extraordinary job of speeding up exploitation since the end of the war.

Iran has voted to nationalize the oil industry, including the Abadan oil refinery in Iran's world. This raises the specter that nationalization, fomented by Moslem fanaticism and spurred by the Iranian example, will sweep the whole middle east.

American oilmen privately vent their indignation at the British. They say that last January the directors of Anglo-Iranian had a chance to make an agreement with the Iranian government to share the proceeds from Iran's wells on a 50-50 basis. This is roughly the base of agreements under which American companies operate.

On a radio program recently Saidpour Fatimi, an Iranian scholar on the faculty of Princeton university, said that the secret balance sheet of the Anglo-Iranian company for 1950 had been obtained. It showed, according to Fatimi, that the profits of Anglo-Iranian last year were $400,000,000 and of this amount the British government took $225,000,000 in taxes. This is compared in Iran with the $30,000,000 which Anglo-Iranian provided Iranian government.

It is hard to tell whether these figures are accurate. British information officials here say figures for 1950 are not released. They point to the 1949 returns showing that gross profits of the British company were only about $120,000,000. But the important thing is that responsible Iranians believe them to be true and that, therefore, they supply steam for the Males Head For New Era?

By PAUL GALLICO

We like to render service as well as entertainment in this space and one of the things we try to do is keep not only abreast of the times, but also a little ahead of them. Thus I believe I am able to inform you today that at last there are serious cracks beginning to appear in the dull sober sides of male clothing and darned if I don't believe we are headed for another era of masculine peacockery. And high time too. For a little matter of one hundred years the male has submitted to being encased in the ugliest garments of his entire history. Boys, us butterflies are about to bust out again.

Basis Of Prognostication

I base this prognostication upon receipt of a little publicity item from some harassed press agent working for the shoe trade. He sends me a pair of bright orange fluorescent shoe laces with the statement that when placed experimentally in a store window the entire available supply was bought out in a few hours. Likewise he encloses at swatch of tartan plaid in red black and yellow with advice that shoes made up in this material are likewise selling like the proverbial hot cakes.

There are, of course, other signs along the road—the Hollywood sports coat, the colored dinner jacket, the brightening up of colors in sack and britches—man is getting fed up with the Victorian era and from which he is only beginning to get the intestinal fortitude to emancipate himself after fifty years. For certainly he never looked so drab, lumpy, devoid of sex appeal and unspectacular as he did at the turn of the century. Just examine any old photos taken at that time when he went abroad in his shapeless bags, tight-buttoned, somber jacket, celluloid collar and billycock hat. A fine finish to a fellow who once strutted in silks and satins with Mechlin lace at his throat and cuffs.

Once Men Wore Skirts

Once upon a time, men—he-men too—wore skirts. Darned good-looking they were in them, too. If you don't believe me just you take a gander at those Roman soldiers, the legionnaires and their officers, as well as the Roman emperors in their short-sleeved tunics and above-the-knees pleated skirts. Some of the toughest fighting men the world ever produced. Skirts showed off their legs and figures fine—so much so that the women took 'em over, and we've never been able to get them back again. Only the Scot has the nerve to wear them today. Nobody walks up to a Kiltie and says, "Yoo-hoo, dearie . . ."

Short skirts then used to be the prerogative of the fighting man. The lady wore a long gown and the gentleman a toga. Very becoming garment, the toga too. You ought to see me in one. Or yourself. Just take the big old bath towel, after your shower, or the bedspread, and drape yourself Greek or Roman style and see what it does for you. Then you'll begin to wonder why you ever let them encase you in the kind of outfit you wear to the office, or to that formal dinner.

Matter Of Doublet And Hose

Then there's the matter of doublet and hose, the same being a kind of long, tight-fitting union suit in gay colors worn with a short jacket or jerkin. No good if a fellow is knock-kneed or carrying about a big bay window, but sure shows off a man's gams to good advantage, and what's wrong about that? The modern trousers are a dreadful affair that does nothing whatsoever for a fellow's figure. By the time we climb into shirt, vest and sack coat as well, any glamour that we possibly might have is rubbed out. You know, there was never any law passed against a guy having sex appeal as well as the female. In fact, in early times, he had nearly all of it, and was not at all hesitant about displaying his charms, or calling attention to himself with bright colors. Just like the male animals in nature.

Why Still Popular?

Why is the fancy dress ball still one of the most popular forms of entertainment? Because it affords the gent a chance to escape from the drab, ugly strait-jacket of modern clothes and climb into something from another era that makes him look romantic, glamorous and thrilling, a cape that falls from the shoulders with a fine swing, knee breeches and silk stockings that revealed what our ancestors used to take pride in as a "well turned calf," or a pirate shirt that bares the chest and furnished a glimpse of muscular arms or torso. In days of yore, apparently it was much more important for the girls to catch a glimpse of our physique than vice versa.

Haven't got the space to go into the matter of how and when and why we lost supremacy in dress, but I'm happy to be able to advise you that it is on its way back again.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

After several years of wondering I have finally solved the riddle of Texas.

I have wondered what makes Texans the way they are—why I have never seen a downhearted Texan; why every Texan seems to have the world by the tail, ready to swing it at his will and convenience; why to every true Texan the past is YESTERDAY, while all their transportation runs one way—in TOMORROW.

The answer to the riddle is that Texas is not a geographical piece of America at all, like the other 47 states.

Texas is a State of Mind.

I live in New England—by choice.

Here we erect tablets to historical figures and the older a house is the more it is revered.

The fellow who can put a marker on his home "Built in 1785" is quickly outclassed by the one who can say on his marker "Built in 1764."

No far from a woman just bought a house that is more than 150 years old.

To most of us it has been an eyesore.

But she is spending a young fortune to modernize that house into a showplace.

Mind you, I said "modernize," not "remodel."

When finished, the house WILL have all the modern features—oil burner, deep freeze, television, bathrooms, washing machine, streamlined kitchen.

But to all visible purposes its age will be emphasized. She will proudly proclaim that it is one of the OLDEST houses in the section.

Not so in Texas. Texans, too, are proud of their history. But pride isn't progress.

In Texas they put up not just tablets to yesterday, but billboards to TOMORROW.

"Here will be built a ten-story office building," such a board will proclaim. And that billboard will stand on a site which yesterday contained a pioneer's shack, equipped with coal stove, outhouse and all the other inconveniences of a bygone age.

At the recent publishers' convention in New York City I attended the Banhees' luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria.

I was seated at a table with seven or eight Texas publishers and editors.

Did they talk about Washington and war? They did not.

They talked about oil wells and how their towns had doubled in population during the past ten years and how they were still growing every day.

Then, the fellow who sat next to the editor whose town had DOUBLED, smiled indulgently. His own town had QUADRUPLED, and he wondered how much more it had grown during the week he had been away.

Yes, Texas is a state of mind. It can't be the climate. I'd rather not talk about that.

It can't be the scenery. In that respect Texas can't compare with my Connecticut, with Pennsylvania, California, North Carolina or many others I have seen.

I have spent less time in Texas than in most other states.

Yet, I am homesick for Texas. Today I got a letter from Charley Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

He invited my wife and me to visit them. I haven't been there in three years, and it's a long and tedious trip.

But I am thinking very seriously of accepting the invitation. Texas is contagious.

New Castle Girl Scout To Attend Camp In Wyoming

Barbara Jane Cartwright, 120 E. Wallace avenue, member of Troop 27 has been selected as one of the 90 Senior Scouts from all parts of the United States to attend an All-State Encampment July 31-Aug. 21 at the Buffalo Bill Scout camp near Cody, Wyoming.

According to official notification from Girl Scout National headquarters received today May 19, 1951, the encampment will be the first of its kind and has been made possible through the gift of the oil dealers of the Rocky Mountain region through Glenn E. Nielson, president of the Husky Oil company in Cody. The donors will pay the basic expenses of the encampment.

Qualifications For Selection
Qualifications for selection to take part in the encampment include outstanding camping ability, leadership, adherence to Girl Scout principles and understanding of Scout aims and ideals. The national announcement stated that the physical limitations of the camp made it necessary to keep the number of selectees to 90, although many times that number of qualified applicants were available. Only applicants previously selected as candidates to the Western Hemisphere encampment in Oregon were considered. These were re-screened for the All-States encampment. Final selection was made on the basis of providing the widest possible geographic distribution so that the encampment will be truly representative of every section of the United States.

Near Yellowstone Park
The Buffalo Bill Scout camp is located about forty miles from Cody in Shoshone National forest near Yellowstone park. Its location and surrounding will make possible the kind of adventuresome camping that teen-age Senior

BARBARA JANE CARTWRIGHT

Scouts have indicated they prefer. Plans for the encampment include trips from base camps and living on the trail. There will be opportunities for the girls to discuss matters of current interest to Senior Scouts who, by virtue of their membership in a national and international youth movement, hope to use their affiliation to build friendship and understanding among the girls of the nation and the world.

Proud Of Representative
"Of course we're proud to have a representative at the All-States Encampment," Miss Emily C. Rice, commissioner, commented, "but we're prouder still of the leaders who have made it possible for her to qualify. Mrs. Glen Carpenter, Mrs. Harry C. Boalick, Mrs. Earl DeWolfe, Mrs. Martin Ronan and Miss Mary E. Shaddick have been Barbara's leaders. Barbara is now in her seventh year of scouting, is a junior in New Castle Senior High school and currently president of Sconca club. We are grateful for all the support given scouting in this community which has enabled our girls to learn camping skills and equip themselves to take part in events of this kind." Barbara will go to the encampment as a representative of Girl Scouts of the New Castle Area, Inc., as well as of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A.

Brownie Troop 71 Has Mothers' Tea

A Mothers and Daughters tea was a delightful occasion, when the Brownie Troop 71, of the Highland school, assembled for the party.

The welcome to the mothers was given by the Brownies. Highlighting the afternoon program, the Brownie promise was dramatized in a most informative and interesting manner.

Sectioned off into different parts, the religious part of the promise, "To Love God," was the first dramatization. Girls from the three faiths participated: Catholic—Janice Detwiler, Linda Woodworth and Nancy Rugh; Jewish—Gloria Gordon, Sue Ann Bradley, and Mary Ann Toler; Protestant—Sandra Mills, Virginia Roginski, Helen Michalok and Mary Ann Orrico.

Continuing the second part, "And My Country," was presented with the mothers and daughters repeating the pledge of allegiance to the flag, and the singing of America, led by Mrs. D. B. Forsythe.

The third part of the promise, "To Help Other People," was dramatized by Marshall Abbott, Linda Sampson, Carol Seeger, Beverly Frengel, Dana Klenotic and Judith Ann Dickey.

"Especially Those At Home," the fourth part was enacted by Barbara Lowry, Mary Ann Cuba, Annette Corio and Sandra Fishovitz. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Forsythe, a guest. She was introduced as also was another guest, Mrs. James Matthews, the district organizer.

Mrs. Sylvan Markowitz, leader of the troop, who wrote the "Promise" play, also directed the Brownies, and the presentation was excellently given.

Leader Mrs. Robert Mills was in charge of the tea and she was assisted by the following mothers in making the arrangements: Mrs. D. Seeger, Mrs. W. Bradley, Mrs. S. Lowery, and Mrs. R. Gordon. Tables for the occasion were nicely arranged.

Nancy Rugh thanked the mothers for their cooperation.

Announcement was made that the Brownie Troop 71 will have a luncheon-picnic on Thursday, May 24, at 12 o'clock noon at Boyles Field, under supervision. Instead of a regular meeting. A treat will be given to the Brownies.

WINS MARBLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Andrew Pappas, 13-year-old school boy from Lincoln-Garfield school, is awarded a sweater as he wins the 1951 City-County Marble Championship. The presentation was made by William Pettitt (right), chairman of the Optimist Marble Tourney.

Andrew Pappas Wins County Marble Title

Andrew Pappas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pappas, 28 Charter street, won the annual Optimist club Lawrence county marble championship Friday evening at George Washington junior high school.

Pappas, representative of Lincoln-Garfield school, defeated Bob Coates of Oak Street school 7-1 in the tournament finals. In earlier rounds he downed Fred Baez of S.S. Phillips and James school, 4-0; Phil Stigler of Benjamin Franklin junior high school 4-1, and Charles Schira of Rose Avenue school 6-0.

Coates downed Larry Roberts of Edinburg 4-1, Richard Catterson of Walmo school 5-3 and Louis Quahiero of Mahoning junior high, 7-2, to enter the finals.

Pappas succeeds Harry Passarello as county champion. As champion he will represent Lawrence county in the National tournament to be held at Asbury Park, N. J., the week of June 24.

Asbury Park Trip
He will make the trip, accompanied by a member of the Optimist club, with all expenses paid. Both the champion and runner-up were presented with sweaters, and all other contestants were presented with emblems.

The tournament was one of the finest conducted by the local club. All boys entered were fine contestants and nearly all matches were close.

The final stages of the tournament at the Washington gymnasium came after several weeks of playoffs at the individual schools, with more than 650 boys in all competing.

Had Largest Number
Walmo school had the largest number of boys in its school tournament with 140, followed by North street and North Side school of Ellwood City with 100 each.

A game, in the tournament, consisted of 13 marbles in the center of a circle. The boy that got seven marbles out first won the game.

A match in the first round consisted in best-of-seven games, in the second round best-of-nine, third round best-of-11, and semi-finals and final best-of-13.

In the first and second rounds five different playing circles were in use, with members of the Optimist club acting as officials.

The best part of the story is that a man may be down, but not out, illustrating the point that there is hope. It is more appealing than moving pictures.

The choir, under the direction of James James, will sing three selections, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" "The Sinner and the Song" and "Flee As A Bird," during the service.

Let's Look At Mr. Travers' Record

In a recent political ad the present Democratic incumbent attempted to defend himself in regard to certain charges I had made in my announcement. He made the bold statement that the charges were not true and asked the public to look at the Record.

No one is more anxious than I am to have the voting public scrutinize Mr. Travers' record. It is significant that Mr. Travers quotes no part of the Record to refute any of the charges that I made against him. I now repeat in this ad the charges I originally made in my announcement.

1. That he was the sponsor of the Lawrence County Pension Fund for elected officials.

2. That he was not above grabbing this easy money in addition to his salary and that he immediately joined the Pension Fund.

3. That if elected for a fourth term he will have a salary for the rest of his life out of the County Treasury without being required to render any service to the taxpayer.

We also invite you to look at Mr. Travers' Record and direct your attention to his interest in a pension for himself.

In 1947 immediately after his re-election and before the newly elected County Commissioners had been sworn in he sponsored a Pension Grab and immediately joined the same. This Pension Grab was so raw and patently illegal that credit should be given to the New Castle News for exposing it. Readers of the News will remember the startling proposition of Pension Grab No. 1 where an elected official, at the end of his term of office, could not only take the money he had contributed but could walk off with the taxpayers' money that the same elected official had authorized to go into the Pension Fund.

Mr. Travers asked the voters to look at the record. We also invite you to look at the record. You will search the record in vain to get a copy of Pension Plan No. 1, exposed by the New Castle News. What the record shows in Minute Book 23, page 86—on the margin "NO TERMS AND PROVISIONS (OF PENSION) ATTACHED—12/5/47—NOT NECESSARY INFORMATION: MR. TRAVERS AND ANOTHER COMMISSIONER NOT NOW IN OFFICE."

What happened to this record? Can you tell us why you deemed the information so unimportant Mr. Travers? Are there any other important public records, Mr. Travers, concerning your conduct, which you deemed advisable to conceal from the public?

Pension Fund No. 2. Immediately after the exposure by the New Castle News, Pension Plan No. 1 was amended and the present Democratic incumbent was the sponsor of Pension Fund No. 2, and immediately joined that one. This Pension Fund was passed in 1948 and a contract of insurance was entered into in secrecy with a Pittsburgh Insurance Agency.

When the publicity on Pension Plan No. 2 got too hot the present Democratic incumbent was one of the sponsors of Pension Plan No. 3; and he immediately joined Pension Plan No. 3. Pension Plan No. 3 provided that all county employees would be compelled to join but it was voluntary as to elected officials. Mr. Travers joined Pension Plan No. 3 and to our knowledge no compulsion was used.

The present Democratic incumbent questions my charge as to his waste of Public Funds with a public statement that I did not read his announcement. THE FAULT I FOUND WITH THE INCUMBENT'S ANNOUNCEMENT WAS WHAT IT DID NOT CONTAIN. Nowhere in that announcement was there a statement that Pension Plan No. 2, of which he was one of the sponsors, and which he immediately joined, cost the taxpayers and county employees almost $20,000. The insurance contract was abandoned after two years with the loss of almost $20,000. The records on file in the County Controller's office will show you, Mr. Democratic Incumbent, that in your anxiety to get any kind of a pension for yourself that one contract was abandoned after two years at a waste of employees and taxpayers money of almost $20,000.

In the near future we shall inform the Public how the present Democratic Incumbent was not only dissatisfied with his salary, prescribed by law, but he was still not satisfied with an additional pension, he wanted more. And he took an additional $1,000 per year under a statute that has been declared unconstitutional by several Courts of Common Pleas.

THE PRESENT DEMOCRATIC INCUMBENT POINTS WITH PRIDE THAT HE SPENDS ALL HIS TIME AT THE COURT HOUSE. IT WOULD HAVE BEEN MUCH BETTER IF HE HAD SPENT LESS TIME, BETTER STILL IF HE HAD SPENT NO TIME.

I repeat, I believe in adequate pensions for public and private employees, but I am against an elected official increasing his salary by means of a pension. And I pledge if elected I will not join the Lawrence County Pension Fund.

Life Masks

On a long, rainy afternoon, a little project of life-mask making will keep young fry busy and interested.

The technique is a simple one even though a good deal of patience is required.

First, the face of the "victim" is thoroughly covered with vaseline. Second, paper strips three-quarters of an inch wide and 12 inches long are torn or cut from newspapers. Third, these are dipped in a boiled flour paste about the consistency of cream. The excess paste is wiped off and the entire face covered with a layer of the strips. Ample nose holes for breathing should be left, of course. Fourth, an electric fan is used to hasten drying. When dry, a second layer is added and after this is dried, a third coat applied.

Finally, when the third layer is dry, the mask is carefully removed and completed by adding several more layers. It is important at this stage to take care that the shape of the mask is kept intact. When the whole is thoroughly dried, the edges should be bound with paper, the surface sandpapered, and the features colored to taste with tempera paints.

Finally, the entire mask is varnished or shellacked to give it strength and durability. And how proud the youngsters will be to have a mask of their own faces!

BATTLE RAGES IN SOME AREAS HAND-TO-HAND

a ROK (Republic of Korea) withdrawal, and the division was reported to have lost "some but not much equipment."

East Flank Exposed
A dispatch from the east central front received at 3:45 p. m. (1:40 a. m. EDT) said the Allied entire east flank apparently was exposed after the Chinese hit a South Korean division "in horrible fury" some 20 miles east of the central road hub of Chunchon.

An Allied officer was quoted as saying: "We are sure of nothing on our right flank."

An armored column pushed to the northeast from Hongchun, another central front junction southeast of Chunchon, to bolster the embattled Second Division American, French and Dutch infantrymen.

The division messaged Eighth Army Headquarters late Friday it was still in fighting trim and "looking for more Chinamen to kill."

The message said the ROK division just to the east was still intact and fighting as a group although it had given ground before the Red drive.

Battle Hand-to-Hand
Farther south only 23 miles east of Seoul South Koreans battled hand-to-hand with screaming bugle-blowing Chinese who streamed single file across a dam on the Pukhan river near Chongpyong headless of Allied fire.

An Eighth Army spokesman said at least 684 Chinese were killed in the battle with the South Koreans but the Reds' "human sea" tactics forced the Roks to make limited withdrawals.

But as the South Koreans withdrew their commander reported they had captured more Red weapons than they could carry.

Communist pressure increased against the artillery-reinforced Seoul defense perimeter. As many as 90,000 Chinese and North Koreans were reported massed in the area around abandoned Uijongbu, 11 miles north of the capital.

Temporarily Cut Off

Fanning out east of the city the Reds temporarily cut off an American company. The Eighth Army's communique said the unit "succeeded in fighting its way out."

Reports late Friday from the hard-pressed American units in the Hange area indicated that some GI's already had made their way to safety under cover of a heavy smoke screen laid down by UN forces in the afternoon.

An estimated Chinese battalion attacked the nearly encircled Americans at 12:45 a. m. and again two hours later. Both attacks were repulsed, but heavy pressure was exerted against the UN unit later in the day. The Chinese meanwhile exploited and reinforced a sharp penetration made Thursday when ROK troops to the right of the second Division pulled back under constant Red pressure.

The Communists were reported hitting American command posts and communications centers throughout the area.

The Eighth Army continued to how to a previously announced policy of not making specific estimates of enemy casualties but said the Communists suffered "heavy losses" on all sections of the front.

BLOWN INTO HOSPITAL

FORT WORTH, Tex.—John T. Hill was blown into the hospital by an "ill wind." A carpenter, he was using a power saw when a brisk wind whipped the power cord around him. Startled, he dropped the saw, which nearly severed his foot.

Earl J. Watt Unit Legion Auxiliary Has Banquet Event

Earl J. Watt Unit 638, American Legion Auxiliary, held its annual Mother-Daughter banquet in the Bessemer Presbyterian church dining room.

Four Gold Star Mothers of World War II were welcomed and one mother of World War I.

Mrs. Fullerton, age eighty years, was the oldest mother present and Mrs. Galanski was the youngest.

Four generations of one family attended. They were Mrs. Benson, her daughter, Mrs. John Carr, her granddaughter, Mrs. Virginia Rowe, and her great granddaughters, the twins, Kay and Karen.

Mrs. Flory Fisher gave a beautiful toast to mothers and Violet Scott sang a song dedicated to them.

Six students from the Bessemer High School performed a home talent play which kept the audience in stitches of laughter. The program ended by the group singing "God Bless America."

Mrs. Victor Grimes and Mrs. Marian Shaffer were elected delegates to the tri-county council meeting at West Bridgewater, May 24, during a short business meeting. A donation was made to the cancer fund. Plans were made to help the men of the Post with their Fourth of July celebration.

Former Mayor Of New York May Be Witness In Case

NEW YORK, May 19.—(INS)—Former Mayor O'Dwyer emerged today as the likely major witness against his old friend, John M. Murtagh, if the chief city magistrate is tried for alleged "neglect of duty."

Although under technical arrest, Murtagh refused Mayor Impellitteri's request to take a leave of absence pending disposition of charges in Kings county court.

District Attorney McDonald accused Murtagh of "willfully and unlawfully" neglecting to report to then Mayor O'Dwyer results of a police department probe in 1946.

Murtagh's lawyer, Lloyd Paul Stryker, was given until May 28 to present motions on the charges. If the motions are denied, the chief magistrate must stand trial.

If convicted, Murtagh could get one year in jail, or an indeterminate sentence plus $500 fine. The crime is a misdemeanor.

O'Dwyer, U. S. ambassador to Mexico, was expected to be called to state whether Murtagh, as his commissioner of investigation, ever made a report to him on gambling and corruption.

Prosecutor McDonald's information said Murtagh, in an appearance April 4 before the Brooklyn rackets grand jury, "admitted that he had not made a report to the mayor of the results of (the) investigation."

Relative Of New York City's Mayor Is Held Under Bail

ANSONIA, Conn., May 19.—(INS)—A relative of New York's Mayor Impellitteri was free under bail today after being caught in a state police dragnet against suspected gamblers.

Salvatore Impellitteri, 35, a nephew of New York's chief executive, was arrested in his father's restaurant and booked on a charge of possession of lottery tickets. He was released under $500 bond.

He was among the 45 persons arrested in a series of raids on suspected gambling establishments in New Haven, West Haven, Naugatuck, Ansonia, Derby and Shelton.

Ansonia police, who were not advised of the raids until after they had been accomplished, described Impellitteri as a minor offender.

They said state police raided a pool room poker game and then entered the restaurant of Sam Impellitteri, the mayor's brother. Seized with young Impellitteri were seven men, including city Sheriff Benjamin Bernstein and a special policeman, Steven Smorsmak, allegedly caught gambling in the poolroom above the Impellitteri restaurant.

The first World War 11 peace treaty was signed by Britain and Siam on Jan. 1, 1946.

Much Air Training Activity In China And Manchuria

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., May 19.—(INS)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway told the United Nations today in his first report as far eastern commander that intelligence reports indicate much air training activity in China and Manchuria.

U. N. experts linked this to possible use by the Chinese Reds of Russian-made jet planes for a large scale war against U. N. forces. They pointed out that this would lead to reprisal attacks on Chinese air bases in Manchuria and pursuance of the enemy over the Yalu river.

Ridgway also reported increasing air activity in North Korea, lessening guerrilla activity by the enemy in liberated areas, and continued atrocities by communist troops.

His report, which covered the period from April 1 to 15, formally notified the world organization that he succeeded Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme commander on April 11.

Young American Missing In Britain

LONDON, May 19.—(INS)—Scotland Yard launched a nationwide manhunt today to find a 32-year-old American from Atlanta, Ga., who has been missing from his London apartment since Tuesday.

Police said that Charles Stewart Gowgill dropped out of sight after cancelling an appointment with a doctor.

They said that his brother, an architect in Atlanta, has been called to come to London to assist in the search.

Detectives theorized that Gowgill is suffering from amnesia.

Chicago Fans Excited Over Cubs And White Sox

Cubs Lambast Phils 18 To 9; Sox Top Yanks

Indians And Pirates In Defeat Column

By HOWARD SIGMUND
(U. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 19.—Chicago baseball fans have had little enough to cheer about in recent years, but now all at once they are enjoying a veritable surfeit of pleasure.

At home in the Windy City, the snarling Cubs staged their greatest slugging exhibition in exactly five years and walloped the defending National League Champion Philadelphia Phillies, 18 to 9.

And in New York, the rampaging White Sox handed the New York Yankees their first defeat at home since last September as Ed Stewart's bases-loaded homer in the eighth gave the White Sox a 7-to-4 decision.

Dodgers Keep Lead

The Brooklyn Dodgers won—6 to 3 from St. Louis—to stay in first place by a game. And the Boston Braves leap-frogged over Pittsburgh into third place by smothering the Pirates, 12 to 3.

The New York Giants cooled off the Cincinnati Reds a bit by bunching four runs in the sixth inning for a 4-to-3 win.

Sox Edge Indians
Vern Stephens delivered an eighth-inning pinch single with the bases full to make the Boston Red Sox Maurice McDermitt a 2-to-1 winner over Cleveland's Mike Garcia.

Detroit scored six runs in the ninth to nip Philadelphia, 9 to 6. Washington topped St. Louis, 6 to 2, as Bob Kuzava scattered 11 hits.

The game will begin at 8:30, following opening ceremonies at 8:00. All Teamster players are requested to report at the Union hall on Croton at 6 p. m. for instruction regarding league rules and pre-game ceremonies.

Eight Horses In Preakness
By PAT ROBINSON
(U. S. Sports Writer)
BALTIMORE, Md., May 19.—There are no Man O' Wars or Citations—not even a Count Fleet—in the field of eight three-year-olds slated to run today in the 75th Preakness over the ancient Pimlico track.

If all go—and they surely will if the weatherman makes good on his promise of cloudy skies and a fast track—the race will have a gross value of $110,070. Of this, $75,000 is added money from the Maryland Jockey club.

Arcaro On Bold
Should it come up mud, Jock Whitney will scratch his Green-tie stable ace, Big Stretch, and let the other half of his entry, Hall of Fame, go it alone. Mrs. George Widener's Knowlton is another doubtful starter if it rains.

The Whitney entry and Brookmeade stable's Bold appeared likely favorites at 5-to-2. Local sentiment is riding with Steve Boulmetis on Altered. But Bold will have the Peerless Eddie Arcaro up, and Eddie is gunning for his fourth Preakness.

Post time is 5:17 p. m. EDT.

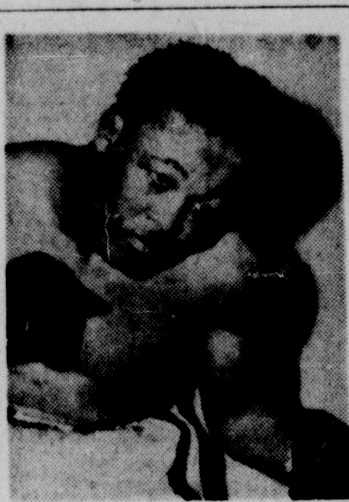

Gavilan Wins Welter Title In Easy Bout

Johnny Bratton Sadly Outclassed

By CHARLES EINHORN
(U. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 19.—Kid Gavilan, who had Johnny Bratton for dessert at Madison Square Garden last night, said today the fight that won him the world's welterweight title was the easiest fight he ever had. And nobody, including Bratton, denied it.

Draped in a Cuban flag and carried out of the Garden ring in joyous celebration by his fellow-countrymen, the Havana Hawk, first Cuban ever to hold a world's boxing championship, said modestly it was nothing, and he was more right than wrong.

Meets Graham Next
Bratton, the National Boxing association's champion since mid-March, was a 2 to 1 underdog going into last night's 15-round bout. By the time the first round was over he had put his face in the way of 25 Gavilan rights and lefts, and the 11,747 crowd would have quoted odds of 100 to 1.

As victor, Gavilan now is contracted to defend his title in July against Billy Graham, the New York puncher. Graham may give him trouble. It is hard to rate Gavilan off his performance last night, because of the lack of opposition.

The gate was $55,531, meaning about $13,000 for each fighter under their equal 27½ per cent cuts.

Indians Lose Two More Erie Tars Here Monday

NIAGARA FALLS, May 19.—The Niagara Falls Citizens made a clean sweep of their double header attraction with the New Castle Indians, winning the second game, 10-0, behind the seventh pitching performance of Kenning Yount after taking the seven-inning opener, 10-8, before 1,011 fans, here last night.

Yount won his fourth straight game of the young season and registered his second successive nine-inning shutout. He walked two and struck out six.

Comedy Of Errors
The Citizens used a comedy of errors as leverage in the second game, putting the game on ice in the fourth inning as four big infield errors, three doubles, a single and a fielder's choice paid off with six runs.

The Falls got three runs in the third inning on two singles, a wild pitch and another error and scored one in first frame on a double, single and wild pitch.

New Castle threatened in several innings but great infield support kept Yount out of danger. Five of the seven Indian hits were infield singles.

Iron Man Bickel
Bickel, hard hit in the first game, came back to scatter three falls hits in the nightcap in a four-inning relief stint.

Dick Friel (3-1) and Frank Zeiss (1-2) are slated for mound duty against New Castle over the week end.

Lavigne Hits 6th Homer
Manager Al Milnar in an effort to pull his team out of a protracted six-game slump shook around in the night-cap last night, sending Bilo to center, Johnson to right and put Don Lavigne, at third, Chet Butler has been in a hitting slump.

Lavigne got his sixth homer of the year in the first game of the twin-bill, a 375 foot smash over the left-field wall. Ted Toles, the young Negro first-sacker was robbed of a homer by Sabulsky who backed up against the left-field wall to take his 350 foot smash.

Rossman Goes Tonight
Ben Rossman was slated for mound duty tonight, with Ciske going in the Sunday game.

The Indians will return to Flaherty Field Monday to face the

Wallace Resigns As Cage Coach At Ellwood City

Charles "Ted" Wallace, basketball coach at Ellwood City high school since 1946, has resigned his position as coach of the Wolverines.

Wallace, a brother of Bill Wallace, principal of Thaddeus Stevens and West Side schools in New Castle, tendered his resignation to the Ellwood City school board and it was accepted at a meeting of the board Thursday evening.

His five-year record at Ellwood City showed 49 wins against 58 losses, in probably one of the toughest sections in the state.

He will stay on at Ellwood City as a teacher, it is reported.

Wallace's resignation marks the second in Section Three since the end of the past basketball campaign. Joe Hetra of Beaver Falls stepped down from his job shortly after the end of the season.

Eddie Joost's Knee Injured By Pitched Ball

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—(INS)—Eddie Joost, the suave shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, will have X-rays taken today on his right knee cap where he was hit by a pitched ball in the seventh inning of last night's game with Detroit.

Joost was carried off the field after the toss by Tiger hurler Bob Cain, who was credited with the 9-6 victory. Dr. Illarion Gopaze, the team physician, said that even if the injury is no more serious than a bruise, Eddie will be out of the lineup at least a week.

Joost is the second member of the team to be injured in a week. In Tuesday night's battle with the St. Louis Browns, the A's catcher Joe Tipton was struck on the head by Ray Coleman's bat.

The team announced that Tipton would be released from the hospital today.

Teamsters Tied, Scotts Move Up In Softball Play

Ross-Morelli and the league pace setter Teamster team last night battled in vain at Gaston park, as neither could push across a run, and both settled back for a tie after ten scoreless innings.

Embroski, Teamster moundsman, held out for four hits and Tony Tuscano, RM hurler, six. Sammy Calazza and Red Ross clipped two hits apiece for the RM's and Greg Ross two for the Teamsters.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Teamsters . . . 000 000 0-0 6 1 RM . . . 000 000 000 0-0 4 1

PAD WIN STREAK Scotts continued their drive toward the top run in the city softball league last night with a shaky 3-2 win from the Lepores, cellar-dwellers, at Progress field.

A three-run third inning for the winners was all that was necessary as the Lepores could score but one in each of the first and third frames.

Kendra, Morgan and Pace hit well for the winners, and Granso and D. Rozzi for the losers. Dinks Lane was the winning pitcher, Smith the loser.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Scotts . . . 003 000 0-3 10 1 Lepores . . . 101 000 0-2 6 3

Batteries—Scotts, Lane and Hawkins; Pace, Lepores, Smith and Mangino.

LEAVE CELLAR Bossert last night moved out of the basement in the city league at Lehigh field by blasting South Side Board of Trade, 22-9, slugging 18 hits and scoring six times in each of the first, fourth and sixth innings.

LaRocco and Pla featured at bat for Bossert, and Ferris for SSBT.

Marcio picked up the pitching victory and Palano was charged with the loss.

SSBT . . . 240 001 2-9 6 4 Bossert . . . 603 616-22 18 2

OUT OF LEAGUE PLAY In exhibition games, RM's have scheduled the Warren Sportsman's club for Sunday at 2:30 at Gaston park and Scotts will play the Ellwood City Eagles away at the same time on Sunday.

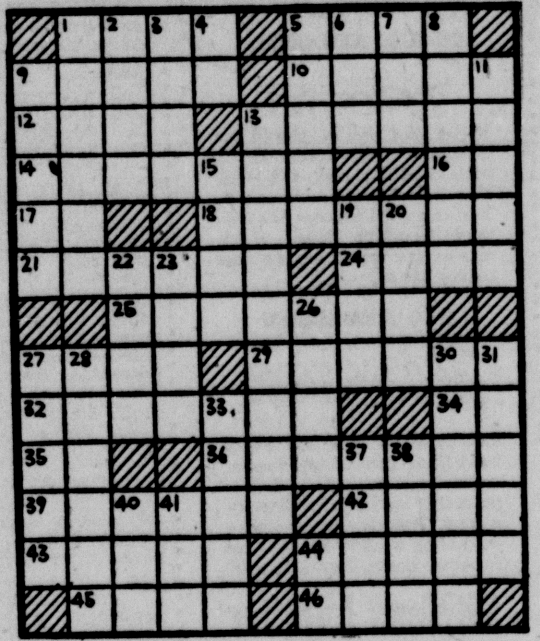

New Castle Host Team Sunday In Penn-Ohio League

New Castle will be host team in the Penn-Ohio Golf League Sunday at the Castle Hills Golf Course. Matches begin at 11 o'clock.

Some of the finest golfers in this district will be participating in the matches from Youngstown, Sharon, Warren and New Castle.
